DR. TALMAGE AT REFORM SCHOOL

Dr. J. E. Talmage, the new member of the quorum of twelve apostles of the Mormon church, who was in the city to address the North Weber Stake conference, gave an excellent address on the "Life of Christ" to the students of the Utah State Industrial school yesterday morning. It was the opening session of the special Christmas exercises and was held at 10:30 o'clock. The apostle spoke of the Christian spirit and of the beautiful sentiment which attaches to the golden rule.

In connection with the morning service there was an exceptionally fine program of music, the various vocal and instrumental numbers being furnished by Ogdens talent. At 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon there was an address by Judge H. H. Rolapp on the subject of "Christmas Giving."

All of the students, both boys and girls, were present with the exception of the thirty boys who were allowed to go to their homes for Christmas. This afternoon the students remaining at the school will be given a most acceptable Christmas gift in the form of a visit to the Orphanage theater.

Manager Joseph Goss is responsible for the invitation for the students to attend the theater and Manager Joseph Bailey, of the Ogdens Rapid Transit company, is adding to their joys by furnishing two special cars to transport the boys and girls to and from the theater.

EXERCISES AT THE STATE DEAF SCHOOL

The Christmas exercises at the State School for the Deaf and Blind were held last evening. One hundred of the students have departed to spend Christmas at their homes, the entertainment being provided for the twenty-eight students remaining at the school.

The principal feature of the entertainment was a tableaux depicting a child sending a letter to Santa Claus, the pleasant old gentleman in his big workshop inspecting the list of toys, his departure for Ogdens and his ultimate descent down the chimney. In the final scene Santa Claus was captured by the children, and when the lights were turned on a real live Santa was exposed to the view of the little children.

The stockings of the little folks were filled with candy and fruit and there was a package of good things from the folks at home. The entertainment was very successfully planned and carried out by Misses Carrie Haynes and Ida DeLimore and Messrs. Woodbury and Thurman.

One year ago Superintendent F. M. Briggs received a very large currency note with which to provide Christmas good things for the children, and the same "good fellow" was in evidence this year with a letter well filled with greenbacks. Not knowing the identity of the donor, the superintendent takes this means of expressing his sincere thanks on behalf of the management and the children.

R. B. PORTER RESIGNS HIS POSITION

R. B. Porter, for a number of years in charge of the "stores department" of the Oregon Short Line has resigned his position, declining to move to Salt Lake, to which point the headquarters have been moved.

Mr. Porter states he has interests here in Ogdens which made it impossible to make the change.

FIRE AT HARRISBURG.
HARRISBURG, Pa., Dec. 24.—Fire in the center of the business section of this city did damage estimated at $100,000 today. Several firemen were overcome by smoke.

RULING WILL AID MANY FARMERS

In compliance with the requests of numerous settlers on the irrigation projects of the government, the Secretary of the Interior has issued the following regulation governing the subdivision of farm units:

1. A homestead entryman, subject to the reclamation act, may relinquish a part of his farm unit and have the relinquished part credited to the charges on the retained part, provided that the amendment in question may be allowed without jeopardizing the interests of the Government in the collection of the charges against the portion of the tract relinquished.

2. The success on the reclamation projects would be those on the small farms. The requests for permission to subdivide their farms comes almost without exception from the men who have taken up land in excess of their ability and means to cultivate. While the large land holder has been waiting his energy, time, and capital in an attempt to subdivide his farm, and now finds the burden too great for him to meet the charges for building, operation and extra labor, the small farmers as a general rule have prospered and are slowly but surely gaining a competence.

Strong influence was brought to bear upon the department in the beginning to fix the farm units at not less than 160 acres. Every effort was made to convince the department that a man could not make a living on less than this acreage. The most influential advocates of the large farm were the prominent farmers and business men in each of these communities. In this connection, a recent letter from Col. H. W. Rowley, the president of the Billings Chamber of Commerce, is particularly interesting in view of the fact that until recently he was apparently in doubt as to the small farm idea.

"I am most earnest in favoring the small farm unit for this section of the country. The forty-acre farm unit as established on the Huntley U. S. reclamation project has proved a great success, and as a whole, it is perhaps today the most prosperous section in our country, due entirely to the small farm units. Our experience certainly is that the small twenty to forty-acre farmer is as a rule successful, while the large units are not."

"One of the most important problems that our chamber of commerce will deal with during the next year will be to educate our people to the advantage of the small farm unit, devoted to diversified farming. When this is brought about, we will have a wonderfully productive country capable of sustaining a very large population of successful home builders. Yours very truly, (Signed) "W. H. ROWLEY."

On some of the projects, the department, yielding in part to the importunities of the people, fixed the units at 80 and 40 acres each, and has often since had occasion to regret that it did not insist upon the smaller unit.

The new ruling, however, will go far to correct the mistake which was then made, because it will encourage the subdivision of the large units and will relieve the farmers of a portion of the charges now assessed against them. It will accordingly make for more intensive cultivation of the land which they retain, will eliminate the expenses in part of the hired help, and will insure larger returns from the lands in crops. It increases the number of farm families, as each relinquishment will provide for a new home on the land.

SALT LAKE'S NEW CHIEF OF POLICE

Salt Lake, Dec. 25.—B. F. Grant will be the next chief of police of Salt Lake City. He will succeed Samuel M. Barlow in that position on January 2. This was decided at a meeting of the newly-elected city commission held in the Boyd Park building last evening. All of the commissioners were present and the selection of Mr. Grant was made without a dissenting voice.

The commissioners declined to discuss their action, further than to say that Mr. Grant's endorsements were much stronger than the endorsements of any other candidate and that, in addition, they considered him the best man for the place. There has been much talk from unauthorized and unreliable sources to the effect that the appointment had been proffered to other men, but this is denied by Mayor-elect Samuel C. Park, under whose jurisdiction the police department has been placed.

The selection of Mr. Grant as chief of police was the only definite action taken by the commission last night. It is not likely that another meeting will be held until Tuesday morning.

Mr. Grant was chosen over the unopposed opposition of the federal bunch. From day to day the bunch multiplied candidates apparently in the hope that the commissioners would be persuaded to ignore the endorsements which Mr. Grant had received from the most prominent Republicans, from business men of all shades of opinion, from most of the leading ministers of the city. Among those who endorsed Mr. Grant was President Joseph F. Smith of the Mormon church.

B. F. Grant is the son of Jedediah Grant, who was the first mayor of Salt Lake. His father died on December 1, 1891, when B. F. Grant was only a few weeks old.

The new chief of police is a member of the Mormon church, an active worker in its betterment league, a lifelong Republican and a prominent business man. For years he has devoted his time to the aid of boys and girls who were inclined to be wayward, and he has saved scores of them from drifting into lives of vice and crime. It is said that as chief of police this work will be made one of the most important that will engage the attention of the department.

Mr. Grant was asked after the meeting last night for a statement of the policy he would pursue as chief of police.

"I do not care to make an extended statement at this time," he said. "I intend to see that the laws are enforced, but this enforcement of laws will apply equally to all classes—to the saloon keeper, the banker, the merchant and all other men alike. One thing, I do not intend to take snap judgment on any man. I believe a number of needed reforms can be made without any great commotion."

His Policy Outlined.

On December 19 The Tribune published interviews with various men mentioned for chief of police. The candidates were asked to tell what their policy would be if appointed to the position. Mr. Grant's statement was as follows:

"So far as public office is concerned, I am not now seeking one, never sought nor ever held one. Many leading citizens who know my attitude on municipal questions and my interest in reform work for many years have asked permission to recommend me for chief of police. While my business affairs make it impossible for me to accept any appointment of this kind save at a personal sacrifice, I realize that the five gentlemen recently elected members of the commission made similar sacrifices for the public good. If chosen I shall aim to be as loyal and public-spirited as the others."

The statement upon which they were elected expressed my own views, and I am therefore willing to leave the matter with the mayor and commissioners-elect. If appointed I will enforce the law impartially according to the oath of office under direction of the board. I believe that gambling should and can be suppressed; that the social evil can be shorn of its tullestments and rendered less dangerous to the young; that minors can be kept out of saloons; that saloons can be induced to obey the law; that crooks can be made unwelcome and uncomfortable; that young boys and girls can be kept out of assignation houses. With a police department looking after these evils, keeping track of criminals and protecting the innocent, ignorant and weak, there would be much time for the police to regulate respectable gathering places, suppressing innocent amusements on Sunday or otherwise legislating for the benefit of the public. These matters will be determined by the commissioners, anyhow. The police job is a big one, if it's handled right, and doesn't leave much time for radical reforms, aside from the ones whose immediate enforcement is necessary to the welfare and reputation of the city. My particular hobby is to guard the young from disreputable and demoralizing influences, and although my sphere and opportunities have been limited, my work along these lines ought to speak for itself."

WOMAN DIES FROM A BULLET WOUND

Indianapolis, Dec. 25.—Mrs. Minnie Goehring, shot November 25 by her husband, who immediately held her committed suicide, is dead at a local hospital. The bullet wound in her lung so weakened her that pneumonia set in and caused her death.

INTERURBAN FOR CACHE VALLEY

Logan, Dec. 25.—David Eccles and his associates in the Logan Rapid Transit company, which is operating the street railway in this city, will, in all probability, build an interurban system for the entire county. Representatives of Mr. Eccles and the company mentioned appeared before the county commissioners Saturday afternoon and asked for a franchise and submitted a draft of the grant desired. There was a large delegation of business men of the city present to back the request of Mr. Eccles, and most of them made addresses. The commissioners probably will grant the franchise asked, but may make some amendments. They will not make a final reply until January 13.

Mr. Goughly who obtained a similar franchise some three months ago, but which was forfeited in accordance with its terms Saturday morning, was present and opposed the grant to Eccles, asserting that the people of the county got nothing for the grant, whereas in his franchise there were certain benefits and concessions and some of the stock of the company organized to operate the road.

The commissioners will ask a bond from Eccles and associates as an evidence of good faith and there is no objection to that on the part of the applicants.

In the morning session of the board Mr. Goughly strenuously objected to the forfeiture of his franchise, and said that he had made a substantial compliance with the terms of his grant, but he was opposed by a delegation from the "Boomers club" which represented that to grant further time would drive others out of the field and that it was apparent that Goughly could not get the necessary financial support for his scheme. They asked that the board be cleared, and after a good deal of discussion the commissioners agreed to this.

Another important matter that came before the board was that of the report of the committee appointed by the commissioners last summer to adjust assessment values in Logan city, about which there has been much complaint. The report which follows was accepted:

"We have thoroughly gone over the property in Logan and have held thirty-two meetings at which the inequalities that we found were discussed and adjusted as far as we were able to do. We have found a great many discrepancies and unfair assessments, which we have endeavored to correct."

"We have also found a number of cases wherein improvements such as residences and outbuildings have never appeared on the assessment rolls. These have been added by us. We find from further investigation that the improvements such as dwellings, barns, etc., located in Logan City are valued at least 25 per cent higher than similar improvements in other cities and towns in this county."

"Therefore we, in order that all classes of citizens shall bear equally the burden of taxation, recommend to your honorable body that the assessor and his deputies be instructed to reduce the valuation on improvements in Logan twenty-five per cent, or that the improvements in the county outside of Logan be increased twenty-five per cent. The report is signed by H. A. Pedersen, John A. Crockett, L. C. Farr, John Quayle and Hyrum Hayball."

"Dr. Thomas' Eucletic Oil is the best remedy for that often fatal disease—croup. Has been used with success in our family for eight years." Mrs. L. Whiteacre, Buffalo, N. Y.

TO MY FRIENDS AND ACQUAINTANCES IN OGDEN CITY AND WEBER COUNTY

Having purchased the properties of the Elk Coal company, I am now organizing a company for the purpose of operating this valuable property. This property consists of 2,160 acres patented coal land, containing over 600,000,000 tons of coal, together with a few sections of leased land, also complete machinery, tipples, tools, etc., to operate the same for a capacity of about 700 tons of coal per day; also the townsite of Elko, containing between 30 and 40 buildings, a complete system of telephones and lines and everything complete to operate this splendid property.

I now offer to you stock in this company at the rate of $1.00 per share. The total stock issue at this time will be 300,000 shares, which will be sufficient to pay the purchase price and accrued expenses in the consummation of this purchase, besides leaving several thousand dollars for a working capital. Nearly half of this amount has already been subscribed.

This offer will be open to you until January 15th, and whatever shares of stock of this issue unsold by that time will be withdrawn and held to be sold for a higher price.

If you desire a profitable and safe investment, which will increase in value at the rate of $2.00 to $3.00 per share a year, besides the prospects of liberal dividends, now is your opportunity. This is not a wildcat scheme, but a property which is being at present operated at a good fair profit by persons who have leased this property. The quality of coal is good and a ready market is found for all its present output.

For further information call on me at my office, 239 24th Street, Ogdens, J. W. F. VOLKER, Ogdens, December 17, 1911.
